

GENERAL ADVICE TO ALL CLIENTS

An attorney only represents their client and has a duty of undivided loyalty and confidentiality. It is best to retain an attorney and seek legal advice early in the process so the attorney can advise you before any written documents are signed or legal commitments are made. Never sign any paper after you retained the services of an attorney without their prior review and advice.

